1 Introduction

The Association's Riding Awards are intended primarily to recognise riding achievements by Audax Australia Cycling Club Members.

This Ride Awards policy deals with seasonal and lifetime awards.

Rides ridden as participants in Audax Australia events or as participants in events conducted by other randonneuring clubs may be recognised. However, the contribution of overseas rides varies between awards. Some are restricted to Australian riding only, while others allow a non-Australian component.

Applications for awards are checked by the Awards Secretary who may also seek independent verification of achievement.

In addition to the Audax Australia Riding Awards which are applied for seasonally, a rider can request recognition for completing individual rides at the time of entering the ride. Cloth patches are available for completing 50, 100 and 150 km road rides. Cloth patches are being phased out and will become unavailable. Medallions are available for 35, 70 and 100 km dirt rides and 50, 100, 150, 200, 300, 400, 600 and 1000 km road rides and for LRM 1200+ km rides.

4.2 Eligibility of a particular ride for Audax Australia awards

1. In addition to any distance or ride type restrictions in the description of the award, a ride shall only be counted once for an award in each of the following categories:
 - a) Single season, for rides of defined distances
 - b) Single season, for accumulated riding distances
 - c) Consecutive months, for rides of defined distances
 - d) Multi-Season, for rides of defined distancesExample:

A 400 km ride can be used in the following way:

 - a) once in a single season defined ride award, e.g. part of a Super Randonneur,
 - b) once in a single season cumulative distance award, e.g. part of an Audax Australia Annual 2,500,
 - c) once in a consecutive 12 month period as part of a Year Round Randonneur Award
 - d) once in a multi-season defined ride award, e.g. part of a Woodrup 5000, and
 - e) once in a multi-season cumulative distance award, e.g. part of an Australian Randonneur 25,000.
2. In addition to the preceding paragraph, rides used for Australian Super Series, ACP Super Randonneur and Woodrup 5000 awards may also be used for the Ultra Randonneur Award.
3. The Australian Randonneur Awards are cumulative. Recipients of one level of the award must accumulate an additional 25,000 km of homologated rides to claim the next level.
4. There is no starting date for rides which count towards the Australian Randonneur Award and Ultra Randonneur Award. If evidence is not available from Audax Australia records, riders must provide appropriate evidence such as copies of homologated brevets. The Awards Secretary retains discretion to accept or reject the evidence proffered.

4.3 Australian Content

1. Exceptions are summarised in Clause 2 below and set out in the Award descriptions, rides must be completed in Australia. In this context, for rides completed before 1 November 2011, Australia includes New Zealand.
2. The following summarises the minimum Australian content:
 - a) Australian Super Randonneur Award: at least 3 of the 4 rides
 - b) Audax Australia Annual Award: at least 50% of the award distance claimed
 - c) Year Round Randonneur: at least 9 of the 12 rides
 - d) Petit Year Round Randonneur: at least 9 of the 12 rides
 - e) Ultra Randonneur: at least 25 of the 50 rides claimed
 - f) Australian Randonneur Award: at least 12,500 of any 25,000 km for each level of the award (See Award Descriptions for details.)

4.4 Ride Lengths

1. Unless indicated in the description of the award, a longer ride may not be substituted for a shorter one.
2. The actual distance of a completed ride counts towards any single or multi-season cumulative distance award.
3. The nominal distance of a completed ride counts towards any single or multi-season defined ride distance award, except Fleche which uses the actual distance.

By way of example:

- a) 200 km BRM which is 250 km long has the value of 250 km for a cumulative distance award, but counts as a 200 km nominal distance for a defined ride distance award
- b) 150 km BA which is 156 km long has the value of 156 km for a cumulative distance award, but counts as a 150 km nominal distance for a defined ride distance award
- c) A 500 km Fleche has the value of 500 km for a cumulative distance award, and defined ride distance awards (including the multi season Woodrup 5000).
- d) A 200 km Petit Flèche has the value of 200 km for a cumulative distance award, but counts as a 180 km nominal distance for a defined ride distance award

5 Limitations of Rides

1. To avoid “double dipping”, the same ride cannot be used to claim both Audax Australia Riding Awards and any seasonal or cumulative awards given by another club. For clarity:
 - a) An event ridden in Australia cannot be used to claim a seasonal or cumulative overseas or international award as well as an Audax Australia Riding Award.
 - b) An event ridden overseas and for which a seasonal or cumulative overseas or international award has been or will be claimed cannot be used to claim an Audax Australia Riding Award.
 - c) This does not include recognition for completing an individual ride, for example – a rider may receive a medallion for completing an international LRM event and still claim that ride as part of an Audax Australia Riding Award provided it is not also used to claim a seasonal or cumulative overseas or international award.

Further examples:

- d) Audax Australia Super Series award and ACP Super Randonneur award have the same riding requirements. However, a Member must not use the same rides to claim both awards.
- e) Except for the 1,200 km brevet, the Woodrup 5000 and the ACP Randonneur 5000 awards have the same riding requirements. However, a Member must not use the same rides to claim both awards.

2. Up to a maximum 50% of the kilometres claimed for Multi-Season – cumulative distance and Single-Season – cumulative distance can be Brevet Raid (BR and BPR) events.

6 Applying for an Award

1. The method and opening and closing dates for award applications at the end of the Audax season will be published to members via email and on the Audax Australia website in the awards section. Single season member awards must be applied for online, whereas multi-season awards still require submission of the appropriate application form. This may change from time to time as award application processes are updated.
2. There is no fee to apply for awards for Members of Audax Australia.
3. Subject to any restriction set out in the Award descriptions, a rider may apply for as many awards as their riding record entitles them.
4. The Awards Secretary retains absolute discretion to accept or reject an application for an award, including whether to accept evidence proffered or to determine whether claimed rides are eligible. This may particularly be the case when considering applications from Members with a long history of rides completed when they were living outside Australia.
